WELCOME FROM THE CONVENERS

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to participate in the XI International Symposium on Irrigation of Horticultural Crops. This event will be hosted at the Tatura SmartFarm in sunny Australia from 18–23 January 2026 under the auspices of the International Society of Horticultural Sciences (ISHS), Agriculture Victoria, the University of Melbourne and the Instituto de Agricultura Sostenible (Spain). The main theme of the conference is “Acting on Water for Climate Change, Environment and Energy”.

The conference is a 6-day event that includes plenary sessions, keynote speakers, oral and poster presentations, workshops, field tours and social activities. It will bring together scientists, industry representatives, service providers and growers from across the globe to discuss the latest advances in horticultural irrigation research, to network and to form new collaborations.

The Tatura SmartFarm is the ideal place to host this event, boasting a conference centre and on-site irrigated orchards of various tree crops. The surrounding region of the Goulburn Valley is Victoria’s food bowl, producing large quantities of horticultural produce.

We welcome the endorsement of the horticulture and irrigation industries to support the Organising Committee in delivering an outstanding conference. This conference provides a platform to promote your organisation and interact with our delegates. We offer a diverse range of sponsorship packages for your involvement, and we hope that you will join us on this exciting journey into horticultural irrigation research and development. Sponsorship and exhibition spaces are limited, therefore we strongly encourage early confirmation. This will also ensure a higher level of exposure in the lead up to the conference on the conference website and other avenues depending on your level of sponsorship.

More information about the conference can be found here.
